

All Nations Louis Stokes Alliance for Minority Participation
Annual AIHEC Poster and Oral Undergraduate Research Competition
“Call for Judges”

The goal of the All Nations Louis Stokes Alliance for Minority Participation (ANLSAMP) is to double the number of American Indians achieving Bachelors degrees in Science, Technology, Engineering and Mathematics (STEM) within our 34 partner institutions. The National Science Foundation funds ANLSAMP.

The goals of the ANLSAMP Poster & Oral Research Competitions are to:

- Encourage American Indians in undergraduate research
- Provide a forum for students to network with faculty and peers
- Bolster American Indian students’ skills as scientists and communicators, and
- Provide opportunities to encourage American Indian students to achieve Bachelors degrees in the STEM fields.

ANLSAMP will host its annual student research competitions at the American Indian Higher Education Consortium (AIHEC) Annual Student Conference from March 20th through March 23rd, 2010 in Chandler, Arizona. We are seeking volunteers to judge our Poster and Oral competition. If you are interested or would like further information please submit this form or contact our office at the address listed below.
